Medical.

Baltimore Lock Hospital.
DR. JOHNSTON,
Physician of this celebrated Institution, has discovered the most Certain, Speedy, Pleasant and Effectual Remedy in the World for all DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE.
Weakness of the Back, or Limbs, Strictures, Affections of the Kidneys, or Bladder, Involuntary Discharges, Impotency, General Debility, Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Languor, Low Spirits, Confusion of Ideas, Palpitation of the heart, Timidity, Trembling, Dimness of Sight, or Giddiness, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin, Affections of the Liver, Lungs, Stomach or Bowels—those terrible disorders arising from Solitary Habits of Youth—SECRET and solitary practices, more fatal to their victims, than the songs of the Syrens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes, or anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible.
YOUNG MEN
especially, who have become the Victims of Solitary Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstacy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.
MARRIAGE.
Married persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, aware of Physical Weakness (Loss of Procreative Power—Impotency,) Nervous Excitability, Palpitation, Organic Weakness, Nervous Debility, or any other disqualification, speedily relieved.
He who places himself under the care of Dr. J. may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidentially rely upon his skill as a physician.
ORGANIC WEAKNESS,
IMPOTENCY, LOSS OF POWER,
Immediately Cured, and Full Vigor Restored.
This distressing affection—which renders life miserable and marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgences.—Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny, that the power of procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits, than by the prudent? Beside being deprived of the pleasures of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. The system becomes deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions Weakened, Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, Constitutional Debility, and Wasting of the Frame, Cough, Consumption, Decay and Death.
A CURE WARRANTED IN TWO DAYS.
Relief in Six Hours! No Mercury!
Persons Ruined by Ignorant, Trifling Pretenders, and their Deadly Poisons, should apply immediately.
DR. JOHNSTON,
Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London. Graduate of one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the Hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known; many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.
TAKE PARTICTLAR NOTICE.
Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgences and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business, study, society or marriage.
These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by the early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c.
MENTALLY.—The fearful effects of the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Aversion to Society, Self-Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced.
Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emicated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of Consumption.
YOUNG MEN
who have injured themselves by a certain practice, indulged in when alone, a habit frequently learned from evil companions or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.
What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the pride of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and employments of life, by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons must, before contemplating reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these, the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage, the prospect hourly darkens to the view, the mind becomes shadowed to despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another is blighted with our own.
DISEASE OF IMPRUDENCE.
When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds that he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease makes their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commiseration till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings, by sending him to that undiscovered country, "from whence no traveler returns."
It is a melancholy fact, that thousands DIE victims to this terrible disease, through falling into the hands of Ignorant or Unskillful PRETENDERS, who by the use of that deadly Poison, Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and incapable of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer month after month taking their noxious or injurious compounds, and instead of being restored to a renewal of Life, Vigor and happiness, in despair leave him with ruined Health, to sign over his galling disappointment.
To such, therefore, DR JOHNSTON pledges himself to preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and from his extensive practice and observations in the great Hospitals of Europe, and the first in this country, viz: England, France, Philadelphia and elsewhere, is enabled to offer the most Speedy, Certain and Effectual Remedy in the World for all diseases of Imprudence.
DR. JOHNSTON,
OFFICE, 7 SOUTH FREDERICK STREET,
BALTIMORE, MD.,
left hand side going from Baltimore street, a few doors from the corner. Fail not to observe the name and number.
☞No letters received unless postpaid and containing a stamp to be used on the reply. Persons writing should state age, and send a portion of advertisement describing symptoms.
There are so many Paltry, Designing and Worthless Imposters advertising themselves as Physicians, trifling with and ruining the health of all who unfortunately fall into their power, that Dr. Johnston deems it necessary to say especially to those unacquainted with his reputation, that his Credentials or Diplomas always hang in his office.
ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS.
The many thousands cured at this establishment, year after year, and the numerous Surgical Operations performed by Dr. Johnston witnessed by the representatives of the press and many other persons, notices of which have appeared again and again before the public, besides his standing as a gentleman of character and responsibility, is a sufficient guarantee to the afflicted.
SKIN DISEASES SPEEDILY CURED.
March 11, 1870—1y1pr

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,
FOR ALL THE PUPOSES OF A LAXATIVE MEDICINE.
Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.
They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.
Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—
For DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, LISTLESSNESS, LANGUOR AND LOSS OF APPETITE, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.
For LIVER COMPLAINT and its various symptoms, BILIOUS HEADACHE, SICK HEADACHE, JAUNDICE or GREEN SICKNESS, BILIOUS COLIC and BILIOUS FEVERS, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.
For DYSENTERY OR DIARRHŒA, but one mild dose is generally required.
For RHEUMATISM, GOUT, GRAVEL, PALPITATION OF THE HEART, PAIN IN THE SIDE, BACK and LOINS, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.
For DROPSY and DROPSICAL SWELLINGS they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.
For SUPPRESSION a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.
As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.
An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

HUMOROUS.

ON a gate post in front of a farm-house in Illinois, is a sign which reads as follows "Take warnin'—No tracs nor life inshurans, nor so-in-masheens wanted heer."

A COUNTRY paper says there is a man in that neighborhood so mean, that he sits on the door-steps of the church on Sundays, to save the wear of his pew cushions.

A PERSON in prison was asked by a friend what it was for. "For telling lies?" "How is that?" demanded the other. "Why telling people I would pay'em, and not keeping my word."

"THE Prussians attacked Nancy, yesterday," said a young man to his grandmother. "Well, well," said the old lady, wiping her spectacle, "I didn't think they'd be mean enough to strike a woman."

"WHY," said Bob Pittings to William Swipes, when he caught him drinking, "I thought you had signed the pledge. "So I have," said Swipes, "but all signs, you know, fail in dry weather."

A Western merchant is down on the newspaper. He says: "Thur ain't no sens in noospaper advertising so long as a man is smart enuff to tend to his own biznis, and kin stand at the dore and holler the fellers in."

A Yankee boy recently took his sweetheart to one of the St. Louis hotels for dinner. Fishballs were on the table, but as the youth had never seen the article, he supposed they were doughtnuts, and handed one to his companion. After breaking his own open, he carefully examined it, smelt at it, and said:

"Matilda, don't eat that doughtnut—there's something dead in this!"

STRAWBERRY PLANTS.—These plants will do much better next season if protected through the winter. Care should be taken not to cover so deep as to smother, and yet enough put on to give the roots a shield against the action of frost. The strawberry plant is injured in the same way as wheat; it is not the cold, but the alternate freezing and thawing that does the injury. Any kind of litter, almost, makes a good mould. Old straw put between the rows and covered with dirt is good.

THE BEST AUTHORITY.—People who enjoy the discomfiture of lawyers—and who does not?—will laugh over this incident:

"I call upon you," said the counsellor, "to state distinctly upon what authority you are prepared to swear to the mare's age?"

"Upon what authority?" said the hostler interrogatively.

"You are to reply, and not to repeat the question put to you."

"I dosen't consider a man's bound to answer a question afore he's time to turn it in his own mind."

"Nothing can be more simple, sir, than the question I put, I again repeat it. Upon what authority do you swear to the animal's age?"

"The best authority," responded he, gruffly.

"Then why such an evasion? Why not state it at once?"

"Well, then, if you must have it—"

"Must! I will have it!" vociferated the counsellor interrupting the witness.

"Well, then, if you must and will have it," rejoined the hostler, with imperturbable gravity, "why, then, I had it myself from the mare's own mouth."

A simultaneous burst of laughter rang through the court, and the judge on the bench could with difficulty confine his risible muscles to judicial decorum.

The Star and Sentinel.

THE TRUNDLE BED.

As I rumaged through the attic
List'ning to the falling rain,
As it pattered on the shingles
And against the window pane,
Peeping over chests and boxes,
Which with dust were thickly spread,
Saw I in the farthest corner
What was once my trundle bed.

So I drew it from the recess,
Where it had remained so long,
Hearing all the while the music
Of my mother's voice in song,
As she sung in sweetest accents,
What I since have often read—
"Hush, my babe, lie still and slumber,
Holy angels guard thy bed."

As I listened, recollections
That I thought had been forgot
Came, with all the gush of memory,
Rushing, thronging to the spot—
As I wandered back to childhood,
To those merry days of yore,
When I knelt beside my mother,
By this bed upon the floor.

Then it was with hands so gently
Placed upon my infant head,
That she taught my lips to utter,
Carefully the words she said,
Never can they be forgotten—
Deep are they in mem'ry graven:
"Hallowed be Thy name, O, Father!
Father! Thou who art in Heaven!"

This she taught me; then she told me
Of its import, great and deep;
After which I learned to utter
"Now I lay me down to sleep."
Then it was with hands uplifted,
And in accents soft and mild,
That my mother asked "Our Father,
Father, do Thou bless my child!"

Years have passed, and that dear mother
Long has mouldered 'neath the sod,
And I trust her sainted spirit
Revels in the home of God.
But that scene at summer twilight
Never has from memory fled;
And it comes in all its freshness
When I see my trundle bed.

THE DOUBLE ELOPEMENT.

The little village of E—— was one of the many mining towns in the interior of California, and in this village dwelt Dr. Hammond and his family. They were noted for their kind hospitality, and for the interest they took in the general affairs of the village.

So it very often happened that their only daughter, Artie, was the belle of many little social parties. There it was that she repeatedly met a young man by the name of Charles Bavey, and his fancy for Miss Artie's pretty face, blue eyes, and dark brown curls kept him constantly by her side.

But what I was going to tell you was this—that the Doctor had made up his mind to spend the summer near Lake Tahoe, so he could have a fine time hunting and fishing during the heated term, and, as a matter of course, he wanted to take his family with him, for he could not think of leaving them down there in the terribly hot weather of the summer.

No Artie did not like this idea at all, so, after having a good cry about it, she came into the parlor where Mrs. Hammond sat, and said:

"Now, mamma, this is too bad; just to think of us going away off in the mountains, where we can't see anything but Indians and sage brush. I shall die, mamma; I know I shall, if you take me away off up there."

"Die? No, my dear," said Mrs. Hammond, gently, "and to tell the truth, Artie, I shall be glad to get you off up there where you can't do so much running around. I am about sick of this going all the time."

"Well, I am not," said Miss Artie, with an independent toss of her pretty head as she went off to the window. She had not stood there long before she saw some one coming up the little lane which led to the house. Then she turned to her mother, and said:

"Oh, mamma, Charley Bavey is coming here."

"Yes, just as I expected, you can't think of anything but Charley Bavey now," said Mrs. Hammond as she left the room.

She soon heard Artie and Charley talking very low together, so she began to wonder what they were saying, and finally she went to the door to listen. She heard Charley say:

"Yes, darling, I will come with the buggy just at dark to-morrow, so we can go and get married in a short time. Your folks won't think of such a thing until it's too late."

"But, Charley, suppose papa won't forgive us," said Artie!

"Oh, there's no danger but he will; and you'll go, won't you, Artie! Only think what a heavy, lonesome life it would be without you, darling."

As Artie looked up into a pair of very loving hazel eyes, she smilingly said, "Yes, Charley."

"Now, good night, darling, and by this time to-morrow night you'll be my own darling little wife."

Saying this Charley kissed her and was gone.

Now, as Mrs. Hammond had been listening all the time, she heard everything Charley said. So she said to herself ironically, your dear little wife by this time to-morrow night. "Oh, yes, we'll see about that."

But when Artie came out her mother was sitting at the table sewing. She looked up and asked:

"Well, Artie, has Charley gone so soon?"

"Yes, mamma," was all Artie said, as she left the room.

The next day passed off at last, and just at dark a buggy drove up to the front gate."

"Now," thought Mrs. Hammond, "I'll show them a trick that's worth two of them."

So she put on Artie's cloak and hat and and ran down to the gate. A gentleman very gallantly helped her into the buggy, but never spoke a word.

"Well," thought she, "he's afraid to speak for fear Artie's father and mother would hear him. Ahem!"

So away they went, and Mrs. Hammond sat there thinking what a nice trick she had played on Artie by running off with Charley. Then she began to wonder if this was the way he treated Artie when they went out riding; and next, what would the doctor say? But what puzzled her most was that they were going in the opposite direction from what she had expected. So at last she said:

"Well, Charley, hadn't we better go home?"

Imagine her surprise to hear the doctor's voice answer her:

"What! Maggie, it that you? What in the name of all that's good, bad, and indifferent, are you doing here?"

"Oh, doctor, I thought it was Charley!"

"Well, I'd like to know where you was going with Charley at this time of night?"

"Indeed! and I'd like to know whom you thought you had in here if not me?" answered Mrs. Hammond.

"Oh, I thought it was Artie."

"And what in the world ever put such a notion into your head as to take Artie out at this time of night?"

"Well, the fact of it is, Maggie, as I sat on the porch last evening, I overheard Charley and Artie talking about running off to get married, so I thought I'd just save Charley the trouble, and take Artie out for a ride. I began to think she was keeping very still."

"Doctor," said Mrs. Hammond, "that is just what I heard, and my object in going with Charley was the same as yours was in taking Artie off."

"We are a couple of pretty fools to be eloping in this way; but here we are home again."

Saying this, the doctor helped his wife out of the buggy, and they went into the house. One glance at the empty rooms convinced them that Artie was gone, they could easily guess where. So they made up their minds to make the best of it, and wait for the runaways to come home.

And the next morning, when Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bavey came home to implore forgivness for running off to get married, they could not understand the mischievous twinkle in Dr. Hammond's eyes, as he very readily forgave them, and said:

"Certainly children; I ran off with mother once and didn't know it."

Charley and Artie looked one to the other, and asked:

"How? when? where?"

The doctor only laughed, and shook his head as though the story was too good to tell, and that was all they ever could get out of him.

A NORTH CAROLINA STRAIGHT DRINK.

Some years since, when they were a buildin' the locks on Coal River, I was over thar at Peytona, and I stopped at Dr. Kellum's, who physicked people in that quarter at that time. Thar was a famine just then, and great sufferin' among men, women and children, for want of the necessaries of life.

Leastwise, it was about the same thing. Thar was plenty of meat, an abundance of corn, and no scarcity of chicken; but the rivers were dry, and whiskey run entirely short. Some prudent people laid in sufficient stock, but then most had not. How to bring up a family 'thout red-eye was a puzzler, and the sufferin' was enormous.

Dr. Kellum was in trouble too; he sympathized with his neighbors, but he had a half barrel of 95 per cent. alcohol in his office, and, as far as it was concerned, he managed to fix it up, with sugar, and water, and gum, and ether, and sich truck, until he made a putty fair drink. Seein' I was a friend of his, he invited me to sample it. Well, it kinder filled the room with smell, and just then a man from the Mud River country came in, on his way to Raleigh Court House. He smelt the smell, and said:

"I've been nigh two days from home, and I'm almost starvin'."

"Oh," said Kellum, pointing to the cask, "that's it, help yourself."

The chap brightened up, an' he drawed a level tumblerful of that alcohol, and before you could say: "Scat, you beast?" down it went.

Kellum turned pale.

Says the man:

"I am much obliged to you. That's sarchin!" and he turned and walked out.

"That won't do!" says he. "I'll call him back and give him an emetic."

We both went to the door. He wasn't in sight. I run up the creek, and Kellum he ran down the road. But it wasn't of any use.

"I shouldn't wonder," said Kellum, "if that chap hasn't gone and died somewhere by hisself. Thar'll be a corpse found directly, and a krawner's inswich, and lots of trouble."

Well, we sot thar for about an hour talkin about the poor kuss's melancholy fate, when all to wonst in walked the chap hisself, as peert as a wildcat.

"Doctor," says he, "I am gwine a long way up the river, an' licker is skeerce, an' if it's all the same to you, could you spar me another tumbler full. Its the satisfyingest likker I ever drank."

A FEMININE WEAKNESS.—The most difficult thing in the world for a woman to do is to get ready to go anywhere. And there is nothing a woman will resent quicker or more fiercely than an intimation that she may possibly miss the train. Mr. Brayfogle gives an instance of this. Mrs. Brayfogle was preparing to take the ten o'clock train to visit some relatives in an interior town. Having suffered on previous occasions for injudicious suggestions, Brayfogle thought that, for once, he would let things take their natural course. So he sipped his coffee and ate his eggs on toast while madame curled and powdered and danced attendance on the looking-glass, and tied bark on the back of her head.

Mr. Bray sat by the stove and read the morning paper, while madame still continued to get ready. At last, just as he had reached the final paragraph of the reading matter, and was beginning on the advertisements, madame tied her bonnet strings under her chin, took one long, lingering, loving look at the image reflected in the glass, and sweetly announced:

"Well, my dear, I'm ready."

"Ready for what?" asked Bray, in well affected astonishment.

"To go to the depot, to be sure," said Mrs. Bray, tartly.

"Oh," said Bray, "I'd forgotten. Well, madame (looking at his watch,) the train has been gone thirteen minutes. Just keep on your things, and you'll be ready for the train to-morrow morning."

Let a veil be drawn over what followed; but next morning Mrs. B. was ready an hour ahead of time.

AN EQUIVOCAL APOLOGY.—In a certain country town lived two worthy men—neighbors and friends; but they never could agree upon political questions. In dispute one day, one of the disputants lost his temper and called the other a liar, fool, knave and so on. This was his weakness. He easily lost self control, and then was very abusive, and then repented. On the occasion referred to he was so chagrined at the exhibition he had made of his passion, that he soon called upon his neighbor, penitant, and purposing an apology. We give, in substance, the apology:—

"I am ashamed of myself for being so abusive in my talk to you. To think I should call a neighbor and friend, a liar, fool and knave! I am very sorry, and I have come to apoogize. Forgive me, I know not why in my talk with you I lose my temper. But the tact is you talk so much like a jackass, I cant help it!"

YOUNG women sometimes keep their lovers by tears, on the principle, as the New York Post suggests, that "Love, like fish, is preserved by brine."

A CHILD'S DREAM OF A STAR.

BY CHARLES DICKENS.

There was once a child, and he strolled about a good deal, and thought of a number of things. He had a sister, who was a child too, and his constant companion. These two used to wonder all day long.—They wondered at the beauty of flowers; they wondered at the height and blueness of the sky; they wondered at the depth of the bright water; they wondered at the goodness and power of God, who made the lovely world.

They used to say to one another sometimes, "supposing all the children on the earth were to die, would the flowers, and the water, and the sky be sorry." They believed they would be sorry. For, said they, the buds are the children of the flowers, and the little playful streams that gambol down the hillsides are the children of waters; and the smallest bright specks playing at hide and seek in the sky all night must surely be children of the stars; and they would all be grieved to see their playmates, the children of men, no more.

There was a star that used to come out on the sky before the rest, near the church spire about the graves. It was larger and more beautiful, they thought, than all the others, and every night they watched for it, standing hand in hand by the window; whoever saw it first cried out, "I see the star!" And often they both cried out together, knowing so well when it would rise and where. So they grew to be such friends with it, that before lying down in their beds, they looked out again to bid it good night; and when they were turning round to sleep, they said, "God bless that star!"

But while she was still very young, oh, very, very young, the sister drooped and came to be so weak that she could no longer stand in the window at night, and then the child looked sadly by himself, and when he saw the star, turned round to the patient pale face on the bed: "I see the star!" and then a smile would come upon her face, and the little weak voice used to say, "God bless my brother and the star!"

And so the time came all too soon, when the child looked out alone, and when there was no face on the bed; and when there was a little grave among the graves, not there before; and when the star made long rays down towards him he saw it through his tears.

Now, these rays were so bright, and they seemed to make such a beautiful way from earth to heaven, that when the child went to his solitary bed, he dreamed of the star; and dreamed that lying where he was, he saw a train of people taken up the shining road by angels. And the star, opening, showed him a great world of light, where many more such angels waited to receive them.

All the angels who were waiting turned their beaming eyes upon the people who were carried up into the star; and some one came out from the long rows in which they stood, and fell upon the people's necks and kissed them tenderly, and went away with them down avenues of light, and were so happy in their company, that, lying in bed, he wept for joy.

His sister's angel lingered near the entrance of the star, and said to the leader among those who had brought the people thither:

"Is my brother come?"

And he said, "No."

She was turning hopefully away, when the child stretched out his arms, and said: "O, sister, I am here! take me!" and then she turned her beaming eyes upon him, and then it was night; and the star was shining into his room, making long rays down towards him as he saw them through his tears.

From that moment the child looked out upon the star as one of the homes he was to go to, when the time should come, and he thought he did not belong to earth alone, but to the star, too, because of his sister's angel gone before.

There was a baby born to be a brother of the child; and while he was yet so little that he had never spoken a word, he stretched his tiny form out upon the bed, and died.

Again the child dreamed of the open star, and the company of angels, and the train of people's faces.

Said his sister's angel to the leader:

"Has my brother come?"

And he said, "Not that one, but another."

As the child beheld his brother's angel in her arms, he cried, "O, sister, I am here! take me!" And she turned and smiled upon him, and the star was shining.

He grew to be a young man, and was busy with his books, when an old servant came to him and said:

"Thy mother is no more. I bring her blessing on her darling son."

Again at night he saw the star and that former company. Said his sister's angel to the leader:

"Is my brother come?"

And he answered, "Thy mother."

A mighty cry of joy went forth through all the stars, because the mother was united with her two children. And he stretched out his arms and cried, "O, mother, sister, and brother, I am here! take me!" And they answered, "Not yet;" and the star was shining.

He grew to be a man whose hair was turning gray, and was sitting by the fireside heavy with grief, and with his face bedewed with tears, when the star opened once again.

Said his sister's angel to the leader:

"Is my brother come?"

And he said, "Nay, but his maiden daughter."

And the man who had been a child saw his daughter, newly lost to him, a celestial creature among those three, and said, "My daughter's head is upon my mother's bosom, and her arm is around her neck, and at her feet is the baby of old time, and I can bear the parting from her, God be praised." And the star was shining.

And the child came to be an old man, and his once smooth face was wrinkled, and his steps were slow and feeble, and his back was bent. And one night as he lay upon his bed, his children standing around him, he cried as he had cried so long ago:

"I see the star!"

And they whispered to one another, "He is dying."

And he said, "I am. My age is falling from me like a garment, and I move toward the star as a child. And, O, my Father, now I thank Thee that it has so often opened to receive the dear ones who await me."

And the star was shining; and it shines upon his grave.

WHY is a son who objects to his mother's second marriage like an exhausted pedestrian? Because he can't go a step-father.

HOW IT FEELS TO BE SHOT IN BATTLE.

Experience of a German Soldier at Metz.

[From the North German Gazette.]

"There! a blow in the breast, a tearing in the body, a fall with a loud cry and terrible pain; there I lay, one of the victims of this bloody day. My first sensation was anger at the blow, my second an expectation of seeing myself explode, for, judging by the sound of the ball, I believed I had a grenade in my body; then came the pain and with it helplessness and falling. Oh, how frightful are those first moments! Where I was hit, how I was wounded, I could form no idea; I only felt that I could not stir, saw a battalion disappear from my sight, and myself alone on the ground amid the fearful howling and whistling of the balls, which were incessantly striking the earth around me. With difficulty could I turn my head a little, and saw behind me two soldiers attending on a third, who was lying on the ground.

"Of what happened I can give no account, except that I called for help several times as well as I could, for the pain and burning thirst had the upper hand. At last both of them ran up to me, and with joy I recognized the doctor and hospital attendant of my company. 'Where are you wounded?' is the first question. I could only point. My dress was quickly opened, and in the middle of the breast a bloody wound was found, which the doctor hastily bound. The balls still constantly whizzed around us; one struck the doctor's helmet, and immediately I felt a violent blow in the left arm.

"Another wound! With difficulty I was turned round, to look for the outlet of the bullet, but it was still in my body, near the spine. At last it was cut out. 'Is the wound dangerous?' I asked. 'I hope not.' 'Pray tell me the truth.' 'Not very dangerous, it is to be hoped,' and with the emphasized 'very' my hopes melted. They were going away. 'The wound in the arm, doctor.' This, fortunately, was looked for in vain; the ball had merely caused a blue spot, and had sunk into the ground harmlessly. I extended my hand to the doctor and thanked him, as also the attendants, whom I commissioned to send word to my family."

"Ceaselessly it whizzed and howled around me. The doctor had carefully laid me on my cloak, and with my helmet firmly on my head, in order in some measure to protect me from the leaden hail. Thus I lay alone with my own thoughts, amid the most terrible fire, perhaps for an hour and a half. All my thoughts, as far pain and increasing weakness allowed, were fixed on my family. Gradually I got accustomed to the danger which surrounded me, and only when too much sand from the striking bullets was thrown on my body did I remember my little enviable position. * * * At last, after long, long waiting, the sanitary detachment came to me."

ANOTHER ROYAL MARRIAGE.—After marrying her oldest son to a Danish princess and three of her daughters to German princes, Queen Victoria has consented to the marriage of her fourth daughter, the Princess Louisa, to a British subject.—This is in violation of the Royal Marriage Act, but the Queen's prerogative probably extends to such a violation, under the present circumstances; or in, in the language of the cable telegram: "It is considered that the possibility of the Princess succeeding to the crown is too remote to render the alliance dangerous." The possibility does, indeed, seem remote, for there are already about twenty grandchildren of the Queen who would have a right of succession prior to that of the Princess Louisa's offspring, and there is a strong probability of many more by the children already married, to say nothing of those that the Duke of Edinburg may have when he chooses to marry and settle. The happy man chosen by the Princess Louisa is the young Marquis of Lorne, son and heir of the Duke of Argyle, one of the richest nobleman of the realm. His blood is as old and as good as the Queen's, or better. The Duches of Argyle, mother of the Marquis of Lorne, is a daughter of the late Duke of Sutherland. It is a singular fact that an ancestor of the Marquis, the great Duke of Argyle, perished on the scaffold for his devotion to the house of Stuart. It is probable that the marriage about to be celebrated is a love-match, and it is almost the only one in the Queen's family that can be called such. She shows her sense in giving her consent to it, though it is a great innovation to allow one of the royal blood to marry a subject of the crown.

THE report of the Dairymen's Association states that in 1868 there were in the United States 792 cheese factories, of which 660 were in New York, 79 in Ohio, 26 in Illinois, 25 in Vermont, and 8 in Wisconsin. Since 1868 a large increase in the number is reported, and it is thought that 200 factories have been started in this State alone during the past year. Since 1868 Wisconsin has increased her number to 62. Under the factory system the cheese product of the country has risen from 105,000,000 pounds in 1860 to 240,000,000 in 1868, and in the latter year the demand exceeded the supply about 73,000,000 pounds. In 1869 the entire dairy product of the United States was valued at $400,000,000, exceeding the wheat crop $25,000,000, and leaving the cotton crop nearly $100,000,000 behind.

WHO ART THOU?—A few Sabbaths since, a stout, fatherly-looking man was pressing his way through the crowd in Plymouth Church, in order to get nearer Beecher, when he was arrested in his progress by the great preacher's voice, singing out the words of the text, "Who art thou?" "Who art thou?" again cried out the dramatic preacher. The stout party, thinking himself in the wrong, perhaps, by pressing forward, and believing himself to be personally addressed, startled the brethren and nonplussed their reverend chieftain by sedately replying: "I'm a pig merchant from Chicago, sir, I hope you ain't mad. There ain't nary chair, or else I'd a sot down."

A FEW days before the adjournment of the last session of the Legislature of North Carolina, a wealthy conservative from a distant portion of the State, happening to be in Raleigh, paid a visit to the capitol. Taking a seat in the lobby of the Senate chamber, he meditated degeneracy of the times which permits colored men to hold seats in that body. He was roused from his reverie by a colored Senator, who arose, and in the course of his remarks used the familiar quotation from the 137th Psalm, "Let my right hand forget her cunning," etc. He could contain himself no longer and, turning to a friend, said: "Isn't it disgusting to hear such an ignoramus attempting to quote Shakspeare?

A LAD in a printing office came upon the name of Hecate, occurring in a line thus: "Shall reign the Hecate of the deepest hell." The boy, thinking he had discovered an error, ran to the foreman of the office, and inquired eagerly if there was an e in cat. "Why no you blockhead," was the reply. Away went the juvenile type-setter to the press room, and extricted the superfluous letter. But fancy the horror of the poet and publisher, when the poem appeared with the line: "Shall reign the He cat of the deepest hell."

Advertisers and others interested will bear in mind that the regular circulation of the "STAR AND SENTINEL" is much larger than that of any other paper published in the County, being read weekly by not less than 11,000 persons.

CONGRESS—OFFICIAL.

We annex the full official vote for Congress in this district:

	CESSNA.	MEYERS.
Adams	2654	2979
Bedford	2220	2752
Franklin	3981	4167
Fulton	712	1132
Somerset	2777	1829
	12844	12859
		12844
Meyers' majority		15

The official returns show a Republican majority of 50 in the district for Jury Commissioner, notwithstanding the unexpected defection in Franklin, and the reduced majority in Somerset, where the opposition voted a number of railroad hands. It is clear, therefore, that Mr. Cessna would have been elected but for treachery in Somerset county. He made a handsome run in Bedford county, where both the candidates live and are personally known—Mr. Cessna being the highest on the Republican ticket, while Mr. Meyers is the lowest on the Democratic ticket. But in Somerset, Mr. Cessna lost heavily over and above the Railroad vote—his majority being 124 less than that of the Republican Jury Commissioner. The Somerset Herald charges "fraud, bribery and colonization," at various polls, and says that Mr. Cessna was sold out by parties who treacherously circulated spurious tickets. In one township, a Republican candidate for constable, by name of Pritts, was detected in the treacherous work, after a number of his tickets had been voted. The Herald intimates that Pritts was manipulated by Hon. A. H. Coffroth. About 240 Railroad hands were voted by Meyers' friends, of which the Herald has this remark:

"Besides the usual scenes along the work on the line of the Railroad, of turbulence and violence, there was an open and undisguised offer to swear through every vote; a persistent effort to 'get in' all available material, and had we not had careful friends watching the systematic effort at fraud, and preventing the same, as well as the terrors and intimidation of a brawling, drunken Irish crowd would permit, hundreds more would have been added to the frauds upon the cause committed at this election.

At Ursina, the polling place of Lower Turkeyfoot, they seemed to have rioted in their purposes. They swelled their vote some forty above what it should have been; and in the evening, not content with this, two 'bloody Democrats' got into a brawl, one shot the other, thus probably adding homicide to the list of iniquities they committed on that day."

HOPING AGAINST HOPE.

For ten years now (says the Chicago Post,) ever since they passed hopelessly into the minority, Democrats have been vigorously counting up their "gains." The boy upon the curb-stone does not more industriously count his chips and forecast the day when he will be a millionaire; the crazy "queen" in an asylum does not more assiduously arrange her ribbons and anticipate that she will shortly be enthroned—than the Democratic party figure up the gains in Skunkopolis and Swampscot to show that they will elect the President of the United States next time, or at some early day thereafter.

THE Democratic papers in the North seem disposed to rival the unrepentant Rebels of the South in fulsome tributes to the memory of Gen. Lee, the leader of the Rebel armies. These same journals make it a point to blacken the memory of Secretary Stanton and other prominent Union leaders, and can scarcely find words strong enough to express their detestation of Grant, Sheridan and the great soldiers who withstood Lee's treason. Yet these same journals take it amiss when charged with disloyal proclivities. The Chicago Post thus pointedly, but truthfully, pays its respects to the memory of the Rebel chief, whose death has drawn out such a gush of tender Democratic sympathy:

The now deceased soldier is probably the last of his kin to gather fame of any sort, for he has buried a glorious family name under a personal recreancy to the nation that gave him his sword. He died as traitors die, and will be remembered as traitors are remembered. His country took him when he was a raw, ignorant youth, and made him a cultured man; it put food into his mouth, clothes upon his back, and a sword in his hand; it gave the orphaned boy an opportunity, and listened gladly to his voice when he swore to serve only her until his hand should be palsied, and at the annual West Point dinners called down maledictions upon the head of every traitor. Then he went forth and struck his benefactor in the face! He fought the nation that had fed him gratuitously for years; in the ranks of her enemies he drew the blades he had bought for them, and violated, with unblushing protestations, his oath of fidelity. Nay, after the secession troubles had fallen upon the land, he denounced the traitors of South Carolina, and declared that he would fight to put them down. Then, one winter night, he fled from Arlington to Richmond!

ON Thursday of last week, a shock of earth-quake, lasting from 30 seconds to a minute, was felt along the entire limits of the Northern and Eastern States, from Maine to the Mississippi valley, and extending from central Pennsylvania across New York to the Canadas. At various points great alarm was occasioned, chimneys topling over, houses perceptibly swaying, doors flying open, &c. No damage, however, was done at any point.

THE election in South Carolina last week, resulted in a signal Republican triumph. The Republicans sweep the State, re-electing Gov. Scott by from 15,000 to 20,000, and returning a solid Republican delegation to Congress.—Several of the members are colored men. Strange that South Carolina—the home of nullifiers and rabid secessionists, where the Rebellion was inaugurated—should to-day be one of the staunchest Republican States of the Union.

THE Union League of Philadelphia—the most potent political organization in the country—has unanimously adopted resolutions in favor of a State Convention to amend the Constitution, and guard against the corruptions now so fearfully prevalent in legislative and municipal bodies. One of the resolutions endorses the principle of minority legislation. The subject will be brought before the next Legislature.

SENATOR MORTON has formally declined the Mission to England, giving as a reason for doing so, that in the event of his resignation as Senator, the Democrats being in majority in the Legislature of Indiana, would not fail to elect a successor from their own party, and setting forth the impropriety of such a course on his part in connection with the interests of the Administration.

PENNSYLVANIA—REPUBLICAN MAJORITY.

Not only have the Republicans carried the Legislature and a majority of the Congressional delegation, but we have a clear majority on the popular vote. The Harrisburg Telegraph gives the official vote in all the Congressional districts, viz:

Dist. Elected.	Rep.	Dem.
1st—S. J. Randall		4,148
2d—J. V. Creeley	4,375
3d—L. Myers	1,315

8th—J. L. Getz		5,368
9th—O. J. Dickey	2,341
10th—J. W. Killinger	629
11th—J. B. Storms		4,728
12th—L. D. Shoemaker	1,220
13th—U. Mercur	124
14th—J. B. Packer	2,453
15th—R. J. Haldeman		3,450
16th—B. F. Meyers		15
17th—R. M. Speer		11
18th—H. Sherwood		27
19th—G. W. Scofield	504
20th—S. Griffith		769
21st—H. D. Foster		730
22d—J. S. Negley	3,212
23d—E. M'Junkin	3,701
24th—G. M'Clelland		759
	25,273	20,980
	20,980
Majority	4,293

In the 2d district, the Republicans had two candidates, both claiming to be regularly nominated. The Democratic candidate withdrew from the contest. We have therefore substituted the Republican majority for Sheriff in that district, which is only about one-half the Republican majority given for Judge and Clerk of the Orphans' Court.

In the Fourth District the Democrats made no regular nomination, but generally supported Wm. B. Thomas, an Independent Republican. We give in that district only the majority given to Judge Kelley, the regular Republican candidate.

In the Ninth (Lancaster) District, two staunch Republicans presented themselves as candidates for Congress, and the majority of 2,341 reported for Mr. Dickey would have been at least five thousand if a regular Democrat had been in the field.

THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

THE Democracy of New York city are greatly alarmed at the arrangements being made by U. States officials to enforce the 15th Amendment and secure a fair election in that city in November. Watchers will be appointed at all the polls and the United States Marshal will appoint deputies to see that the law is not violated. Similar arrangements secured a comparatively fair election in Philadelphia, and may go far to break up the wholesale frauds which made elections in New York city a mockery. The virtuous Democracy, accustomed to manufacture indefinite majorities by ballot-stuffing and repeating, of course send up a howl at this interference with their rights and threaten terrible things if the U. States authorities dare disturb them. Marshal Gregory, of Philadelphia, answered similiar defiance by marching a battalion of Marines to the support of his deputies, preventing a bloody riot and enforcing order at the polls. Similiar tactics in New York might teach a salutatory lesson to the corrupt politicians of Tammany Hall.

The New York Herald, which has no sympathies with the Republican party, regards the October elections as a popular endorsement of Gen. Grant's administration, and gives the following bit of comfort to its Democratic readers:

"From the general results in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa and Nebraska these facts may be regarded as established —First—That the people of the United States, by a heavy majority, accept, endorse and approve the administration of General Grant. Second—That the Republican party on the platform of this administration are sure of a decisive majority in the popular branch of the next Congress, whereby, the Senate being secure, both Houses will be in accord with the President to the end of his present term. Third—That he is good for a second term against all opposition combinations and any opposing candidates. Fourth—That the democrats have made no headway of any account since 1866. Fifth—That the new element of the colored vote is en masse with the Republicans. Sixth—That there is some danger that the Democracy may loose New York in November.

THE Democrats carry three Congressional districts in this State by an aggregate majority of 53—Meyers being elected by 15, Spear by 11, and Sherwood by 27. In each of these districts hundreds of Republicans failed to vote, thereby losing us three Republican members of Congress. So much for apathy on election day.

PRESIDENT GRANT has issued a proclamation fixing Thursday, November 24, as a day of Thanksgiving to God for general prosperity, abundant harvests, exemption from pestilence, foreign war and civic strife, during the past year.

THE Republican majority in Ohio at the recent election approaches seventeen thousand. This is a large and gratifying increase over Governor Hay's majority of three thousand two years ago.

GENERAL NEWS.

THE earnings of the Union Pacific Railroad for September, were $728,520 93; Expenses $286,158 08; Net earnings $442,362 85.

THE total collections for the German War Fund which have been received at the Consulate in New York amounted to $215,876. On saturday $10,000 were remitted to Berlin.

THE eclipse of the sun, which will take place on December 22d, is to be observed by a party of astronomers, fitted out by the United States Government and to be sent out to Spain.

A LAD of seven years, son of Col. John C. Bundy, of St. Charles, Illinois, was killed on Saturday by being struck with a base ball in the stomach. He lived only a few minutes after the hit.

A PRELIMINARY meeting will be held in Washington during this week between the Spanish Ministers and the Envoys from Chili, Peru, Ecuador and Bolivia, to settle the troubles between Spain and the allied Republics under the mediation of our Government.

WM. M. TWEED, who runs New York city, recently bought a piece of property in Putman county, N. Y., for $25,000. A day or two after he ordered the Croton Water Commissioners to purchase it of him for $250,000; thus voting into his pocket at one fell swoop $225,000 clear profit. That's Democracy; and these are the men who are assailing President Grant's administration for dishonesty and extravagance.

PROF. COCKER, of Michigan University, an Englishman himself, spent the summer in "the old country," and tells the story that one well-informed person demonstrated to him the impossibility of America becoming a great nation, because she had no coal; and expressed commendable degree of surprise when he learned that when we had scooped all the coal out of some of our districts their little island could be dropped clear out of sight in the hole.

LOSS OF THE CAMBRIA.—The steamship Cambria, of the Anchor line, which left New York on the eighth instant, with a full cargo of merchandize and about one hundred and seventy passengers, was lost off the northern coast of Ireland on the nineteenth instant, all on board perishing, excepting one sailor. The cable reports that the ill-fated vessel contained 145 cabin passengers, and 170 in all, besides the officers and crew.

IN response to complaints from prominent German citizens and journals of the United States, President Grant on Saturday explained the position of our Government in relation to the purchase of arms in this country and their shipment to France. The President stated that they were not bought by Frenchmen or French agents, and that when purchased by private citizens they might be transported anywhere without hindrance from United States authorities.

A PRECOCIOUS youth of Altoona, Pennsylvania, having surreptitiously obtained a package of powder and a cigar stump the other evening, soon realised the fact that the way of transgressors is hard. While smoking the cigar stump he saw his mother coming toward him, and at once slid the cigar into the pocket containing the powder. His hand, the cigar and the powder got out of that pocket with great rapidity, and the youthful hero is now securely "bolted up" for a few day's rest at home.

WEATHER WARNINGS.—The British Board of Trade has published, for the benefit of seafaring men, the following remarks on the appearance of the sky: A rosy sunset presages fair weather, and a bright yellowish sky in the evening indicates wind, and a pale yellow wet weather. A neutral gray is a favorable sign in the evening, and an unfavorable one in the morning. If the forms of the clouds are soft, undefined and feathery, the weather will be foul. Any deep, unusual lines bounding the clouds betoken wind or rain, while quiet and delicate tints bespeak fair weather.

NEW KING OF SPAIN.—Amid the greater excitement of an active war between two of the greatest of European Powers, the selection by the Spaniards of a King attracts comparatively little attention. The young man who is called to the perilous eminence of the Spanish throne, and who has accepted the honor, is Prince Amadeus Ferdinand Maria, the second son and third child of King Victor Emanuel of Italy, and of the Queen Marie Adelaide, who was an Austrian Princess, and died in 1855.

The new King of Spain is a young man, a little over twenty-five years of age, and so far has seen but little of public life. In Italy he is very well liked. He has been brought up in the school of constitutional monarchy, and ought to make an honest and liberal ruler.

ZION'S HERALD is our authority for an extraordinary anecdote, the main point of which may be briefly condensed. A preacher at a camp-meeting in the West delivered a discourse which chiefly turned upon the affectionate regard of Naaman for the land where he was cleansed from his leprosy. Alluding to Naaman's request to be permitted to take two mule-loads of the earth back to his own country, he naturally enough returned to his own conversion. Warming with his subject, he remarked that, if he could go back to old England, he could point out the spot where he knelt when he was converted. "And," said he, "I have often felt like Naaman! If I could just get two pints of that dirt from the spot where I knelt, I wouldn't give it for all that I have eaten at the boarding-tent since I came upon this ground!"

HURRICANE IN THE WEST INDIES.—The accounts of the effects of the late hurricane in the West Indies are of the most appalling character. The overflow on either side of Matanzas (island of Cuba,) met in the centre of the city, causing a fearful destruction of life and property. Out of a population of forty thousand and more than two thousand are said to have perished. Great damage has also been done at Cardenas, Matamoras and Guines. The hurricane extended across the Gulf as far as Florida, and from Key West we learn that all the lower parts of the city are flooded, and that all communication with the upper part is carried on by means of boats. The various lines of steamers have been delayed, the crops seriously injured, and much anxiety is felt as to the numerous vessels at sea. The loss of the steamer Darien and several coasting vessels is already announced. No such hurricane has been known for many years. It far exceeded that which devastated the Island of St. Thomas a few years ago. It is to be hoped that further details will prove the accounts already received to be exaggerated, but in any case they must be sufficiently serious.

Summary of War News

THE PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

RUMORED FAILURE

Impossibilists plotting for Restoration

BAZINE AGAINST THE REPUBLIC

CONFLICTING STATEMENTS

MONDAY, Oct. 24.—Peace rumors are rife again. It is reported that England will offer direct intervention for an armistice. Lord Lyons and Loftus have taken steps to that effect at Tours and Berlin, and perfect accord in the matter exist between England, Austria, and Italy.

It is understood that on Friday last England submitted at Tours and Berlin proposals armistice, and great hopes are entertained as to the result.

The terms of the proposed armistice are reported to be as follows: A Constituent Assembly to be elected, to decide definitely on peace, was under discussion, the principle conditions of which are that the military situation shall remain in statu quo the member of the Assembly elected are to be allowed to enter Paris, and none else; Alsace and Lorraine are not to vote, to which Favre objects, very absurdly, as to those provinces cannot vote while occupied by the Prussian armies. This solution of the neutrality of Alsace and Lorraine is favored by Bismarck.

Saturday at noon a sortie was made by the French from Fort Valerien, supported by forty field guns. They were repulsed by detachments of the 9th and 10th divisions of infantry and a regiment of landwher, supported towards the close of the engagement by the 4th Corps. The Prussians captured 100 prisoners and two of the guns. The Germans loss was small.

The Prussians are marching on Amiens, and General Bourbaki was expected to leave Lille Saturday for the same destination. He has sixty thousand men under his command.

There are conflicting stories about Metz. One is that the fortress was successfully evacuated, and that Bazaine is marching on to Paris, having cut through the Prussians lines. Per contra, it is asserted that the Republic was proclaimed at Metz and Bazaine, while trying to repress the movement, was shot by his own men.

It is reported that the North German sovereigns have been convoked at Versailles, to declare King William Emperor of Germany.

TUESDAY, Oct. 25.—There are many rumors concerning the peace prospect. A despatch from Tours states that an armistice has not yet been concluded, but hope is entertained of Peace. All are surprised at the attitude of England in the affair.

It is assured that the Paris government will not cede an inch of territory nor pay a franc of indemnity, and it is feared the struggle will have to go on to the bitter end unless the conditions prescribed by Prussia are very moderate.

It was rumored in London yesterday that conditions of peace have been arranged between Marshal Bazaine and King William, by which it is stipulated that the Empress Eugenie, who has given her consent, shall go to Versailles and sign the treaty as the representative of the only government recognized by Prussia.

It is intimated that Russia, not joining England, Austria and Italy, in the effort to bring about peace, is acting independently but energetically in the same direction.

Rambeau, who saved Napoleon's life when an attempt was made to assassinate him by Berezowski in Paris, on the 6th of June, 1867, has just gone from Wilhelmshohe to St. Petersburg on a secret mission from the Emperor Napoleon.

At Luxemburg a permanent committee has been constituted to defend the neutrality of the Duchy. The population are indignant at the willingness of the Tours government to cede the Duchy to Prussia, instead of Lorraine.

News from Paris to the 18th inst., refers generally to the preparations making for offensive movements on a large scale, but no particulars are given.

Nothing official has yet been received from the armies around Orleans. It is rumored, however, that a battle is imminent there. The French will make an attempt to retake the place.

The steamships Westphalia and Cimbria, of the Hamburg-American Packet Company, have arrived at Hamburg safely. The officers of the above named steamers report that they encountered no French vessels on the German coast or elsewhere on the voyage.

WEDNESDAY Oct. 26.—There are contradictory rumors about the peace movement. A despatch from Berlin to the London Times states that the latest negotiations for peace have come to naught, owing to the persistence of Prussia in her demands for French territory.

The Times, in an article advising the British government to make no further efforts to put a stop to the war now, says: "If England persists in negotiating for peace, she must be ready to stake something on it."

The Berlin Gazette, reviewing the attempt at conciliation, says: "The government is led to consider them by its desire to avoid further loss of valuable lives in the contest."

The London Standard of yesterday says negotiations are actively going on between Versailles and Eugenie at Chiselhurst with a view to the return of the Empress to France to resume the regency and negotiate peace. The departure of the Empress may be expected at any moment.

M. Thiers has accepted a mission to negotiate an armistice, but still remains at Tours, awaiting a safe conduct to Paris to consult first with the government there.

The negotiations for the surrender of Metz continue, but make slow progress. Bazaine ignores the French Provisional Government in his communications.

The city of Schlestadt capitulated on Monday to the besieging forces, after a severe bombardment. The surrender includes 2,400 prisoners and 120 cannon.

London was quite excited yesterday over the introduction of a French loan for £10,000,000. It is the first time that France negotiated a loan out side of her own territory. It was recieved with great favor, and the subscriptions are reported very large.

The French report annother successful sortie from Paris on October 21, many Prussians being killed and captured.

THURSDAY, Oct. 27.—There is nothing new in military movements to-day, except that the German army in the South of France has occupied Besancon, two hundred and twenty miles from Paris. There is a halt in peace negotiations, and meanwhile Thiers is to have a meeting with Bismarck. France will yield no territory, and, as Prussia does not recede from the terms previously announced, preparations for the bombardment of Paris are being actively pushed.

ON A railway in Massachusetts recently a lady thought she was on the wrong train, and the conductor being notified, stopped the train and hastened to the rear to help the lady out, as all good conductors will. As he stood waiting for her to come out, he heard her exclaim by the door, "Bless me I am all right, only I was riding backwards," her seat having been turned the wrong way.

NEWS OF NEIGHBORING COUNTIES.

FRANKLIN.—Friday evening, Mr. Joseph Brindle, a carpenter, while working at the Wilson College building, Chambersburg, fell from the third story scaffolding to the ground, breaking one arm and one leg.—On the 16th inst., a man named Benjamin Shuman, of Lurgan township, committed suicide by hanging himself to a pine tree in the woods of Mr. Samuel Mowry, near Roxbury. He was about 75 years of age.—A son of Mr. Ralph Smith, residing near Funkstown, in this county, fell from a chestnut tree on Tuesday the 11th inst., a distance of about thirty feet, injuring himself so severely that he died on the Saturday following. The boy was twelve years of age.

YORK.—On the night of the 19th inst., the stables of Charles Weiser and Jacob Brown, in York, were destroyed by fire, with contents—loss about 4,000.—Mrs. Charles Sweeny, of Fairview, while cleaning house last week, fell from a high chair, breaking a rib and sustaining internal injuries.—Mrs. Mathias Mann, of Hanover, died suddenly on the morning of the 9th, from hemmorhage of the lungs, aged 63 years.

WASHINGTON.—The Hagerstown Twice a Week gives the following distressing account of the death of a little child in Washington county, Md.: On Friday, an infant child of James Osburne, who lives on the Antietam, had been placed by its mother upon the floor, near a table upon which stood a pot of boiling coffee, whilst she went into an adjoining apartment, and the child catching hold of an end of the table cloth upset the vessel, the whole of the scalding liquid being emptied upon its head and body. It died in a few hours after it met with its misfortune.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

By the President of the United States:

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, It behooves a people sensible of their dependence on the Almighty, publicly and collectively, to acknowledge their gratitude for His favors and mercies, and humbly beseech for their continuance: and

Whereas, The people of the United States during the year now about to end have special cause to be thankful for general prosperity, abundant harvests, exemption from pestilence, foreign war and civic strife.

Now, therefore, be it known, that I, Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States, concurring in any similar recommendation from Chief Magistrates of States, do hereby recommend to all citizens to meet in their respective places of worship on Thursday, the 24th day of November next, there to give thanks for the bounty of God during the year about to close, and to supplicate for its continuance hereafter.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this 21st day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy, and of the Independence of the United States the ninety-fifth.

U. S. GRANT.

By the President:
HAMILTON FISH, Secretary of State.

THE ECUMENICAL COUNCIL.—The Atlantic cable announces that the Pope has suspended indefinately the sessions of the Ecumenical Council, owing to the occupation of Rome by the troops of Victor Emanuel. This occupation by the Italian troops, it is alleged, might prevent the freedom of action of the Pope and of the Fathers of the Church. The jubilee proclaimed in honor of the Council, however, is continued. The Ecumenical Council, it should be remembered, was not adjourned sine die. The Council, having taken action on the Schema de Fide and the Schema de Infallibilitate, was prorogued to a future occasion in consequence of the extreme heat of the weather, the unhealthy condition of Rome and the urgent calls upon many of the Bishops to return to their homes, to attend to the affairs of their dioceses. There were many important subjects still to be considered by the Ecumenical Council when it was prorogued last summer.

THE New Orleans Picayune says: A countryman at the theatre, the other night, as the escort of some ladies, retired at an intermission and returned with a pound or two of peanuts wrapped in a paper, and two huge bananas sticking from his pockets. Just then, however, and before he had time to take his seat, one of the actresses, who had especially won his admiration, came to the footlights and warbled a beautiful melody. The full, rich voice, exquisite in intonation and breathing strains almost divine, completed the conquest of the countryman's heart, and unable to restrain his delight, he heaved on the stage his peanuts, bananas and pocket handkerchief as a tribute to the fair enchantress. There was a momentary astonishment visible on the faces upon the stage, a single interval of hesitation, which was removed by the countryman's voice, full and clear, "Take 'em, gal, by jingo, you're welcome."

GOOD TOBACCO CROP.—The tobacco crop of Lancaster county, Pa., it is stated, is the finest in quality and largest in growth ever raised there, and will reach sixteen or seventeen thousand cases, and at $60 per case, a low estimate, will be worth over one million dollars.

ALWAYS AHEAD.—Capt. NORRIS is determined not to be outdone by rivals, and has again added largely to his stock for fall and winter wear. If you want a fashionable Hat, Cap, Coat, Pants, or Vest, for fall or winter wear, or a good pair of Boots or Shoes or any kind of underwear as cheap as before the war—Norris' Head-Quarters is the place, (Arnold's corner) young gents. If you want a fashionable Tie or Bow, don't forget that Norris is getting new styles every week, and always has the latest. His stock of Hats is the largest in the county and greatly reduced in price, all styles and price. If you want to save money go to Norris' corner. Sept,16-tf

ATTENTION FARMERS.—Try the celebrated Patent Elastic Rubber-lined Collars, Saddles, and Pads. Warranted to prevent horses from galling and to heal up under work horses already galled, if properly fitted; and sore necks and backs are kept clean with water and castile soap, or no pay. MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS.

This celebrated tonic and stimulant will restore the digestive organs to a perfectly healthy state. It will thoroughly eradicate all morbific matter from the blood, cleanse the entire system, and produce the most vigorous action of the different organs of the human body. It is the Great Blood Purifier and Infallible Remedy for Dyspepsia, Cholera, Cramps in the Stomach, Headache resulting from a deranged Stomach, and also that harassing disease Sick Headache, Billiousness, &c. The fact that in all parts of the land the medical faculty prescribe MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS for their patients who are afflicted with these diseases, should convince the most sceptical that this proprietory compound is a medicine upon which they can rely as absolutely efficacious in curing such diseases as we have enumerated above. PAVING ORDINANCE.—In to-day's pap will be found a new Ordinance passed the Town Council allowing property hol ers to pave or macadamize the streets front of their properties, the expense be re-imbursed by deductions from asse ments of taxes—the paving to be don under the supervision and control of th Council. The Borough funds not justify ing an immediate paving of th streets, this ordinance is intended to fu ther the work, by inducing property holders to do it, thereby practically ad vance the funds to the Borough for th purpose, until repaid in taxes.

It is an important ordinance, and wil doubtless be acted on by many property owners, especially along the line of street requiring repairs. But it is all importan that this paving be done by or under th direct supervision of the Council, other wise there will be unseemly and expensiv patchwork. We hope the Council wil rigidly insist on this provision.

We think it would have been well t qualify the ordinance by an additiona provision, that the paving be done all cases by squares, at least. If eac property owner is left to determine th question of paving for himself, irrespec tive of his neighbor, the streets will b broken up and disfigured. Besides th paving in each street, or square, should b uniform, either cobble or macadamized In many towns and cities, where th property holders pay the entire cost, majority on the line of streets are allow ed to determine the KIND of paving, so a to secure uniformity. As the Council here propose ultimately to pay the cost, they should reserve and exercise the right to prescribe the kind of pavement and have it done uniformly by squares.

LOCAL LAWS.—In looking over the Laws of Pennsylvania, of the session of 1870, we find four Acts having special reference to Adams county, viz:

1. An Act requiring the County Commissioners to invite sealed proposals for all new bridges or buildings, or for alterations or additions thereto, by advertisement in two county papers not less than four weeks,—the contract to be awarded to the lowest bidder, and no contract to be given out until the party shall have given bond for faithful performance, with sureties to be approved by one of the Common Pleas Judges. Commissioners violating the provisions of the act are liable to a fine of $2,000.

2. This is the Game Act which we have published several times, preventing the killing of woodcock between 1st of September and the 20th of June.

3. The County Commissioners are authorized to add and collect five per cent. on all County taxes not paid on or before the 15th of July.

4. An act regulating the practice of medicine, which we give in full:

SECTION 1. That from and after the first day of April, A. D. 1870, it shall be unlawful for any person to commence or continue the practice of medicine or surgery in the counties of Dauphin, Chester, Carbon, Luzerne, Mercer, Erie, Blair, Bradford, Sullivan, Crawford, Beaver, Monroe, Washington, Venango, Lycoming, Huntingdon, Schuylkill, Lawrence, Somerset, Philadelphia, York, Union and Adams, who has not graduated with the decree of doctor of medicine, and received a diploma from a chartered medical school or other institution authorized to grant medical dipomas: Provided, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to persons who have been ten years in continuous regular practice in said county, though they may not have graduated as aforesaid, nor to persons who are reading medicine under the control and instruction of a physician or surgeon who has the qualification to practice prescribed by this section, when such persons have the assent of such preceptor to practice: Provided however, That such student shall not locate any office or business station outside the usual office of his preceptor.

SECTION 2. Any person who shall attempt to practice medicine or surgery, by opening a transient office in the aforesaid connties, or who shall, by handbill or other form of written or printed advertisement, assign such transient office, or other place, to meet persons seeking medical or surgical advice or prescription, shall, before being allowed to practice as aforesaid, appear before the clerk of the courts of the county, and shall furnish satisfactory evidence to such clerk of the courts that the provisions of section one of this act have been complied with, and shall, in addition, take out a license for one year, by payment of a license fee, for the use of the county, of $200: Provided, That the provisions of this act shall not apply to dentists: And provided further, That physicians or surgeons commencing practice in any of the aforesaid counties, with the intention of remaining permanently therein, shall not be subject to the provisions of section one of this act.

SECTION 3. If any person shall violate any of the provisions of this act, every such person shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum not exceeding $500, or less than $200, or imprisoned not exceeding six months, at the discretion of the court.

TAXES ON JUDGMENTS AND MORTGAGES.—In our issue of Sept. 30, we published what purported to be the construction put by the Court of Common Pleas of Lancaster county on the Act of April 4, 1868, exempting judgments and mortgages from taxation except for State purposes. The act was passed by the Legislature, in view of the difficulty which was encountered in borrowing money at six per cent. in competition with the United States bonds—which were free of tax and producing a much larger interest. On a test question raised by the city of Lancaster, the Court held that under this act judgments and mortgages of no kind are liable to taxation, whether held as security for purchase money or by parties at second hand as a safe investment of their spare capital. This decision has naturally attracted attention, and since its publication we have had numerous inquiries in regard to the Act itself. On referring to the Pamphlet Laws, we find its operations are confined to certain enumerated counties, and that IT DOES NOT APPLY TO ADAMS. All the surrounding counties—York Cumberland, Lancaster, Perry, Dauphin, Franklin, Fulton, Bedford and Somerset—are embraced in its provisions, while Adams is excluded. We annex the Act in full as a matter of information to our subscribers resident in the counties to which the act applies:

AN ACT to promote the improvement of real estate by exempting mortgages and other money securities from taxation, except for state purposes, in certain counties of this commonwealth.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That all mortgages, judgments, recognizances and moneys owing upon articles of agreement for the sale of real estate made and executed after the passage of this act, shall be exempt from all taxation except for state purposes; and that from and after the first day of December next no taxes of any description shall be assessed or collected except for state purposes, on or from mortgages, judgments, recognizances or moneys owing upon articles of agreement for the sale of real estate, whether made and executed before or after the passage of this act: Provided, That nothing in this act shall be constructed to apply to mortgages, judgments or articles of agreement given by corporations: Providing, That this act shall only apply to the counties of Berks, Schuylkill, Luzerne, Clearfield, Allegheny, York, Delaware, Montgomery, Chester, Lancaster, Huntingdon, Fulton, Bedford, Blair, Lebanon, Clinton, Carbon, Monroe, Lehigh, Mifflin, Westmoreland, Northampton, Juniata, Somerset, Indiana, Greene, Elk, Forest, Franklin, Cumberland, Dauphin, Lawrence, Lycoming, Union, Snyder, Erie, Crawford, Bucks, M'Kean, Fayette, Philadelphia, Perry and Mercer.

ELISHA W. DAVIS,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
JAMES L. GRAHAM,
Speaker of the Senate.

APPROVED—The fourth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight. JNO. W. GEARY.

GROSS OUTRAGE.

MR. EDITORS:—Allow me to draw your attention, and that of the Borough authorities, to a serious nuisance which exists in our town, and which should be promptly abated. I refer to the habit which some half grown boys indulge in nightly, stationing themselves on the street corners and at crossings, watching females and frequently indulging in lascivious remarks intended for the ears of ladies passing by. Within the last week or two, these scoundrels have grown bolder and more defiant. Several cases have been reported to the writer in which unprotected females have been grossly insulted and even laid hold of while passing around the diamond. So frequent and daring have these outrages become, that respectable ladies now dread to be on the streets after night fall. The Borough authorities should see to it that this nuisance is at once abated by making an example of some of the scoundrels.

Recently, in Philadelphia, Judge Ludlow sent a party of half grown men to the Penitentiary for fifteen years, for assaulting and outraging a lady on one of the streets of that city. A similar example here would do good.

☞ We clip the following from the Daily Standard, published at Bridgeport, Conn:

BRIDGEPORT LEADING THE WORLD.—Our readers will not have neglected to read, from time to time, with pride, the notices which we have given respecting the progress of our city, in architecture and general prosperity. One of the most important in this respect is the colossal establishment of the Howe Sewing Machine Company.

The new wing three story high, four hundred feet long, and now nearly completed, in connection with the factory of said company, affords a view of the rapid development in the industrial department of this large establishment within the last two weeks. A result has been there achieved, which, although but small in comparison with future discoveries in the department of Sewing Machines, eclipses all present experience here or elseware. Not all the advantages and powers are as yet employed, which will likely be afforded in this new building, and yet the daily manufacture of Sewing Machines is far in advance of that which three years ago could be accomplished weekly. During the week ending August twentieth—as the books show—two thousand and twenty machines were manufactured, and the following week, ending August twenty seventh, two thousand four hundred and twenty nine machines were finished.

This is an advance of four hundred machines daily and is, as we believe, the largest manufacture of sewing machines in a single week in this or other lands.

Our fellow Citizens may be proud to have such an establishment in Bridgeport. And we hope the energy of the proprietors may for a long time to come in an eminent degree achieve the promotion of the prosperity of this City and the increase of its business interests.

Since copying the above we have been informed by JACOB F. THOMAS, who represents the Howe Machine Company at this place, that the Company are now building four hundred and twenty-five machines daily.

☞ DR. MACKENZIE's life of Charles Dickens is having an immense sale. It has been published but two months, and the publishers announce the tenth edition. It is only sold by subscription, and a canvasser is wanted in every Township, and we would advise all in search of work and money to send for a canvasser's outfit, (costing $1.) and commence at once canvassing their vicinity thoroughly for subscribers for Mackenzie's Life of Charles Dickens, price only $2.00 a copy, it being the cheapest and best selling Subscription Book ever published. Employment given to all who will apply. Large commissions are paid, and steady and profitable work can be secured in any locality. With this Popular Work, territory may be canvassed a third or fourth time with as good success as at first, it being racy, chatty, yet reliable, written by his life-long friend, who is universally acknowledged to be peculiarly qualified for the task, he having been engaged for several years past in collecting material for this interesting work. Address T. B. Peterson & Brothers, Philadelphia, Pa., who will send a Photograph of Charles Dickens to every Canvasser. 1t

CATARRH.—What a nuisance to be hawking, spitting, and blowing your nose, to say nothing of the inflamed throat, swollen eyes, closed up air passages, ringing in the ears, dull headache, loss of smell, and a general disagreable, unhappy feeling throughout, the result of Catarrh. If afflicted in this manner, procure Dr. J. Briggs' Alleviator, the cheapest, quickest, pleasantest, and most certain remedy in use.

Nothing known equals Dr. J. Briggs' Alleviator and Curative for Corns, Bunions, Bad Nails, Frosted Feet, Chilblains, &c. Many have tried it and rejoice in its beneficial use. If you would enjoy a rural walk or fashionable promenade, treat your feet kindly, and cure your corns with Dr. J. Briggs' Alleviator and Curative. Sold by A. D. Buehler, J. M. Huber, Moritz, Musselman & Co., and druggists generally. Oct. 21.-tf

SAVE MONEY.—Pending the agitation of the Funding Bill, which will evidently depreciate Government Bonds, persons would do well by reading the advertisement of the "Gettysburg National Bank," in another column, and exchange their Government Bonds and realize a handsome profit thereby, and obtain an investment as safe and profitable. tf

THOUSANDS OF PROMISING YOUTHS, of both sexes, go down to untimely graves, from general debility and weakness, which might be saved by fortifying their systems with Iron. The Peruvian Syrup is an Iron Tonic prepared expressly to supply this vitalizing element, and is the only preparation of Iron that will assimilate at once with the food. 1t

THE BEST STOVE now in market, for beauty, economy, and comfort, is admitted all around to be the MORNING GLORY. It defies all competition, and that is the judgment of all who have used it. It is just the thing for Offices, Stores, and Parlors Chambers. Call at C. H. Buehler's Ware Room, opposite the Passenger Depot, and examine for yourselves. tf

A CHANCE FOR BARGAINS.—Messrs. Cobean & Cunningham having determined to close out their stock of Ready-made Clothing, are now selling all kinds of Coats, Pants, Vest, &c, at largely reduced prices—many of them less than cost. Now is the time to secure Bargains. The goods are all first-class and will positively be sold without regard to cost. aug.12.tf

The Fourth Annual Meeting
OF THE ADAMS COUNTY
TEACHERS' INSTITUTE,

UNDER the act of 1867, will be held in the Court House in Gettysburg during the week commencing

Monday, December 26th, 1870.

Every Teacher in the County is expected to be present. As this is the holiday week, which in many sections of the State is given to the Teachers—as the Teachers this year loose the benefit of their Christmas holiday, as they did last year, on account of those days not coming on school days, it is urgently requested, that every Board of Directors grant the entire time.

Teachers of Adams, let us make this the best Institute, that has yet been held. I will do all I can to make the exercises varied and valuable.—There will be Contests in Orthography, Mental Arithmetic and U. S. History, with valuable prizes. The other exercises will consist of Lectures, Class-Drills, Discussions, Essays, &c.

MRS. ANNA T. RANDALL, of Oswego, N. Y., will have charge of the elocutionary department, and will give two entertainments.

PROF. MONTGOMERY,
of Millersville, will give instruction in Penmanship and Drawing, and give prizes for best ladies and gentleman's Penmanship. Other distinguished Instructors will be present, including an Instructor in Vocal Music.

Thursday will be Directors' day, at which time copies of the School Law will be distributed. Full particulars with full programme will be given in future.
J. HOWARD WERT,
Oct. 28, 1870.—3t County Superintendent.

"FACTS ARE STUBBORN THINGS."

SO says Jacob F. Thomas, agent for the Medallion Head Machine. So we think, Mr. Thomas; and wonder why you did not stick to facts.—Fact No. 1, is, that the machine known as the Howe, was manufactured and sold by A. B. Howe for many years before his death.

Fact No. 2, is, that the same machine improved is manufactured and sold at the same place by his successor and Son, B. P. Howe, 437 Broadway, New York, and not by the President of the Grover & Baker Company, as falsely stated by Mr. Thomas in his advertisement of October 14th.

Fact No. 3, is, that the Medallion Head Machine is an imitation of the A. B. Howe Machine; and to make our assertion good I will give $1,000 for every Medallion Head Machine made and sold prior to 1864.

Fact No. 4, is, that Mr. Thomas has been misinformed as regards originality by those who know that their statements could not be sustained.

Fact No. 5, is, that the reputation acquired by the A. B. Howe Machine has induced others to imitate it, and among those the so-called Howe Company have endeavored to palm off as the original a machine made them, by affixing a Medallion Head of the late Elias Howe, Jr., to their machine.

Fact No. 6, is, that Brass Heads, Putty Heads, nor Medallion Heads cannot fix originality as well as FACTS. "Render unto Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's."

Fact No. 7, is that The Original Howe Sewing Machine Improved can be bought of
H. H. ROWE, Gettysburg.
Remember, after reading this, that you have heard it said,
The latest Howe Improved Machine HAS NO MEDALLION HEAD.
The old and still imperfect one (Medallionized in vain)
Is only sold by those who'll die of "Bogus" on the brain.

THE HOME OF

WASHINGTON!
OR
Mount Vernon and its Associations,

BY BENSON J. LOSSING,
Author of "FIELD BOOK of the REVOLUTION," "HISTORY of the UNITED STATES," etc., etc., etc.

Illustrated with nearly 150 Engravings, Mainly from Original Drawings by the Author, embracing numerous Views of Mount Vernon, various Interesting Objects upon the Grounds, copies of Famous Pictures, Portraits of Washington and other Members of the Family, as well as [illegible]

"Mr. Lossing has combined his skill and practice both with pen and pencil in the preparation of this attractive volume. The narrative abounds with interesting details of the private and domestic life of Washington, set forth in an easy and familiar style. * * * The pictorial illustrations, chiefly from original drawings by the Author, are on the most generous scale."—New York Tribune.

"This volume is well adapted as a gift book, being at once historical and artistic."—Philadelphia Press.

"'The Home of Washington' deserves the appellation given it, of a 'superb National gift-book.' * * The 150 engravings, by Mr. Lossing, reproduce with martial fidelity all the relics, scenes, and localities connected with his abode that time has spared, and many, indeed, that no longer exist. It is a book whose value must necessarily increase with the lapse of years."—New York Times.

"This superb volume is one of the most attractive of the many beautiful and valuable books given to the public by Mr. Lossing. * * * No object of interest escapes him, and his text and his sketches mutually illustrate each other. All these characteristics are in the volume before us."—Philadelphia Ledger.

"One of the most valuable and beautiful of historical books. * * * It has nearly one hundred and fifty engravings, many of them truly beautiful, and all interesting."—Boston Journal.

ROSADALIS

THE GREAT AMERICAN HEALTH RESTORER, purifies the blood and cures Scrofula, Syphilis, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Diseases of Women, and all Chronic Affections of the Blood, Liver and Kidneys. Recommended by the Medical Faculty and many thousands of our best citizens.

Read the testimony of Physicians and patients who have used Rosadalis; send for our Rosadalis Guide to Health Book, or Almanac for this year, which we publish for gratuitous distribution; it will give you much valuable information.

Dr. R. W. Carr, of Baltimore, says:

I take pleasure in recommending your ROSADALIS as a very powerful alterative. I have seen it used in two cases with happy results—one in a case of secondary syphilis, in which the patient pronounced himself cured after having taken five bottles of your medicine. The other is a case of scrofula of long standing, which is rapidly improving under its use, and the indications are that the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the formula by which your Rosadalis is made, and find it an excellent compound of alterative ingredients.

Dr. Sparks, of Nicholasville, Ky., says he has used Rosadalis in cases of scrofula and Secondary Syphilis with satisfactory results—as a cleaner of the Blood I know no better remedy.

Samuel G. M'Fadden, Murfreesboro', Tenn. says:

I have used seven bottles of Rosadalis and am entirely cured of Rheumatism; send me four bottles, as I wish it for my brother who has scrofulous sore eyes.

Benjamin Bechtol, of Lima, Ohio, writes. I have suffered for twenty years with an inveterate eruption over my whole body; a short time since I purchased a bottle of Rosadalis and it effected a perfect cure.

SEASON OF 1870-71.

Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organs.

IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENTS.

Patented June 21st, and August 23d, 1870.

Reduction of Prices.

The Mason & Hamlin Organ Co., have the pleasure of announcing important improvements in their Cabinet Organs, for which Patents were granted them in June and August last. These are not merely meretricious attachments, but enhance the substantial excellence of the instruments.

They are also enabled by increased facilities for manufacture, to make, from this date, a further reduction of prices on several leading styles.

Having completed and added to their former facilities a large new manufactory, they hope hereafter to supply all orders promptly.

The Cabinet Organs made by this Company are of such universal reputation, not only throughout America, but also in Europe, that few will need assurance of their superiority.

They now offer FOUR OCTAVE CABINET ORGANS, in quite plain cases, but equal according to their capacity to anything they make, for $50 each. The SAME, DOUBLE REED, $65. FIVE OCTAVE DOUBLE REED ORGANS, FIVE STOPS, with Knee swell and Tremulant, in elegant case, with several of the Mason & Hamlin improvements, $125. The same EXTRA, with new Vox Humana, Automatic Swell, &c., $160. FIVE OCTAVES, THREE SETS REEDS, SEVEN STOPS with EUPHONE; a splendid instrument, $225.

A new illustrated catalogue with full information, and reduced prices, is now ready, and will be sent free, with a testimonial circular, presenting a great mass of evidence as to the superiority of these instruments, to any one sending his address to the MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., 154 Tremont Street, Boston, or 596 Broadway, New York. DODGE'S PATENT
REAPER AND MOWER
AND SELF RAKER.

THIS machine has met with the most complete success. In every section where it has been introduced, it has taken precedence over those machines which have heretofore ranked as first-class. It is a perfect Self-Raker and a superior Mower.

A careful examination will convince any one of its superior merits over all others, in simplicity, strength and durability. As a Self-raking Reaper it has no equal to our knowledge.

The Dodge rake is attached to no other machine in the United States, except to this machine,—Built by the DODGE & STEVENSON Manufacturing Co., Auburn, New York.

READ THE NOTICE OF THE COMPANY TO OUR AGENTS:

Having been informed that certain manufacturers in Ohio and elsewhere are building Reapers with DODGE'S SELF-RAKE attached, we ask you to furnish us the names of all persons vending or purchasing such machines, that we may proceed against any person or persons to manufacture, sell or use the SELF-RAKE, or any part thereof, and we will prosecute to the full extent of the law all persons manufacturing, selling or using said Self-rake except of our own manufacture.
JOHN A. DODGE, President.

We take that confidence in this machine that we are willing to let those wanting a machine test it by the side of any other machine they may wish, and then keep the one that gives the most satisfaction. Farmers wanting Droppers attached can be accommodated.

For the benefit of those wanting machines we should refer them to a few of those to whom we sold viz:

Farm, Garden & Household.

FATTENING HOGS.

The best time to commence fattening is in the months of September, October and November, and the worst in December, January and February. A certain amount of food is neccessary to keep the animal warm when the thermometer is at zero. All this is saved when it stands between thirty and sixty degrees. In addition to this, the absolute loss of food by freezing to the spout or trough, and the inevitable mixture with snow and slush, is never less (ordinarily) less five per cent., not to say anything about the trouble and cost of continualy thawing frozen swill, and bringing it to the temperature that will be most acceptable to the uncomfortable and semi-torpid animal.

The eastern method is to commence fattening by boiling potatoes, pumpkins, apples or vegetables, and mix a little bran, shorts or provender with the cooked vegetables when hot, thus thoroughly cooking the meal. It is then placed in tubs or vats, and allowed to slightly ferment, when it is ready for use. The amount of meal is gradually increased till near killing time, when meal well cooked is given alone.

The meal is composed of oats, buckwheat and corn, or any other coarse grain, or of any two of them, generally finishing with corn meal alone. Thus treated, they fatten much faster than on dry corn and at much less expense. It costs more labor, but at a season when it can be spared, and it is well recompensed.

The English system is still more diversified. They use all kinds of vegetables—potatoes, turnips, carrots, beets, peas, beans, barley and oats; the grains steamed or ground; the vegetables cooked and mixed with slop from the house, dairy, distillery, brewery, etc. Even grass and clover are cut and mixed with the feed, and almost every substance of light cost and any nutriment is nicely prepared and finds a ready market in the maw of the omniverous hog.

A celebrated English breeder gives the following directions: give them a variety of meal, such as wheat, maize, barley, and whatever is most convenient to mix together. Have it all wetted with hot water, and sprinkle it with salt. What is mixed one day is used the next, thus giving sufficient time to allow the food slightly to ferment, and cool sufficiently to feed with. This is our winter plan, but in summer we mix all with cold water, and feed with cold food. Between meals give them whole maize, and mangold wurtzel or swedes cut small, a little coal and soil occasionly, and allow them plenty of clean water. When pigs are put up for fattening we find nothing better to feed them with than barley and maize meal, mixed together into slops, water always kept by them, and a little mangold cut for them occasionly. It is very beneficial to wash and brush them as often as convenient. This is quickly done by experienced hands, and will amply repay the trouble, but throughout the Northwest, it is the practice to feed ear corn in a dry state. It is not the best economy, and yet corn is so easily produced, and it is so handy to feed, especially in cold weather, and the hogs have been properly summered, and their teeth and health good, success is so certain, that it will doubtless be a long time before it will be abandoned. If the corn was soaked, steamed, or ground, it would give you better return, and if mixed with cooked vegetable, still better. From the western system of feeding, ten bushels of corn will increase the weight of a good hog about a 190 pounds, and sometimes more. So the comparative value of pork and corn can be easily estimated. With the eastern system, it will do much more than that. Pigs eat the food much better when it is fresh.

The very common practice of leaving a quantity of food before them constantly, so as to be sure they have enough, is very wasteful, and very bad policy; so is irregular feeding. Strict regularity as to times of feeding, quality and quantity of feed, are very desirable. Twice feeding each day is better than three times; but whatever the number of times adopted, they should be every day alike, and at about the same time each day. Once giving too little—then too much—sometimes omitting a meal, then giving an extra one, or feeding at irregular times—any of these practices will detract materially from the value of the pork barrel.—American Stock Journal.

MANHOOD

IN THE YOUNG AND RISING GENERATION;

The vegetative powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show its baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scene of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwards upon themselves.

If the patient be a female, the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety, as the first symptom in which Nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it fed on; the energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain: the parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU, for Weakness arising from excesses or early indiscretion, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Langour, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for Fear of Themselves; no Repose of Manner, no Earnestness, no Speculation, but a hurried Transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this Medicine invariably removes—soon follow Loss of Power, Fatuity, and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients; reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute—neither Mirth or Grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur, it is rarely articulate.

> "With woeful measures wan Despair
> Low sullen sounds their grief beguiled."

Whilst we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of Chemistry for the removal of the consequences. HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU. There is no tonic like it. It is an anchor of hope to the surgeon and patient, and this is a testimony of all who have used or prescribed it.

Sold by Druggists and Dealers everywhere.—Price $1.25 per bottle, or six bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

HOW TO CURE

CONSUMPTION!!

THE PHILOSOPHY OF DR. SCHENCK'S GREAT MEDICINES.—Will people never learn to know that a diseased liver and stomach necessarily disease the entire system? The plainest Principles of common sense teach this, and yet there are hundreds who ridicule the idea, and continue in the course which almost inevitably brings them permaturely to the grave. Living as the majority of the people do, at complete variance with the laws of nature, it must be apparent to all that, sooner or later, nature will revenge herself. Hence we find that persons who indulge to excess in the use of very rich or indigestible food or intoxicating drinks, invariably pay a heavy penalty in the end. The stomach becomes disordered and refuses to act; the liver fails to perform its functions, dyspepsia and its attendant evils follow, and still the suffering individuals persist in clinging to the thoroughly exploded ideas of the past. Dr. Schenck's medicines are recommended to all such. They bring sure and certain relief wherever they are used as directed, and all that is necessary to establish their reputation with every ailing man or woman in the land is a fair and impartial trial of them. Let those who are skeptical on this point, and who have permitted interested persons to prejudice them against these now celebrated remedies for Consumption, discard their prejudices, and be governed by the principles of reason and common sense. If the system is disordered depend upon it, in nine cases out of ten the seat of disorder will be found in the stomach and liver. To cleanse and invigorate the stomach and to stimulate the liver to healthy action use,

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS.—The daily increasing demand for these pills is the best evidence of their value. Thousands upon thousands of boxes are sold daily. Why? Simply because they act promptly and efficiently. Invalids who may not find it convenient to call on Dr. Schenck in person are informed that full and complete directions for use accompany each package of the MANDRAKE PILLS, PULMONIC SYRUP AND SEAWEED TONIC.—These medicines will cure consumption unless the lungs are so far gone that the patient is entirely beyond the reach of medical relief.

It may be asked by those who are not familiar with the virtues of these great remedies, "How do Dr. Schenck's medicines effect their wonderful cures of consumption?"

The answer is a simple one. They begin their work of restoration by bringing the stomach, liver and bowels into an acive healthy condition. It is food that cures this formidable disease.—SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS act on the liver and stomach, promoting healthy secretion, and removing the bile and slime which have resulted from the inactive or torpid condition of these organs, and of the system generally. This sluggish state of the body, and the consequent accumulation of the unhealthy substances named prevent the proper digestion of food, and, as a natural consequence creates disease, which results in prostration and finally in death.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP and SEAWEED TONIC, when taken regularly, mingle with the food, aid the digestive organs, make good rich blood, and as a natural consequence, give flesh and strength to the patient. Let the faculty say what it may, this is the only true cure for consumption. Experience has proved it beyond the shadow of a doubt, and thousands are to-day alive and well who a few years since were regarded as hopeless cases, but who were induced to try Dr. Schenck's remedies, and were restored to permanent health by their use.

One of the first steps the physician should take with a consumptive patient is to invigorate the system. Now how is this to be done? Certainly not by giving medicines that exhaust and enervate—medicines that impair instead of improve the functions of the digestive organs. Dr. Schenck's medicines cleanse the stomach and bowels of all substances which are calculated to irritate or weaken them. They create an appetite—promote healthful digestion—make good blood, and, as a consequence, they invigorate and strengthen the entire system, and more especially those parts which are diseased. If this cannot be done, then the case must be regarded as a hopeless one.

If the physician finds it impossible to make a PATIENT FEEL HUNGRY, if the diseased person cannot partake of good nourishing food and properly digest it, it is impossible that he can gain flesh and strength; and it is equally impossible to bring a patient to this condition so long as the liver is burdened with diseased bile, and the stomach laden with unhealthy slime.

Almost the first request made to the physician by a consumptive patient is that he will prescribe medicines that will remove or allay the cough, night sweats and chills, which are the sure attendants on consumption. But this should not be done, as the cough is only an effort of nature to relieve itself, and the night sweats and chills are caused by the diseased lungs. The remedies ordinarily prescribed do more harm than good.—They impair the functions of the stomach, impede healthy digestion, and aggravate rather than cure the disease.

There is, after all, nothing like facts with which to substantiate a position, and it is upon facts that Dr. Schenck relies. Nearly all who have taken his medicines in accordance with his directions have not only been cured of consumption, but, from the fact that these medicines act with wonderful power upon the digestive organs, patients thus cured speedily gain flesh. Cleansing the system of all impurities, they lay the foundation for a solid, substantial structure. Restoring these organs to health, they create an appetite. The food is properly assimilated; the quantity of blood is not only increased, but is made rich and strong and in the face of such a condition of the system all disease must be banished.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see Dr. Schenck personally, unless they desire to have their lungs examined. For this purpose he is at his principle office, No. 15 North Sixth St., corner of Commerce, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 6 A. M., until 1 P. M.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the charge is $5.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each, $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists.
